2004 CALIFORNIA DEBT ISSUANCE SHOWS SLIGHT DECLINE

Berma Williams
CDIAC Data Unit

California public agencies issued slightly more than $70 billion in debt in 2004. This total represented a 12 percent decrease from the $80 billion issued in 2003, and includes both short- and long-term debt issued by state agencies, local governments, and student loan corporations (SLC). State agencies issued $31 billion (a decrease of 15 percent from 2003), local agencies issued $38.5 billion (a decrease of 10 percent from 2003), and student loan corporations issued $368 million (a decrease of 29 percent from 2003) (Table 1). Thirty percent of all long-term debt issued by public agencies in 2004 was used to refund prior debt.

2004, market economists were forecasting the steady growth, increased long-term, new money issuance, and an increase in alternative sources of financing for municipal projects.

California Public Debt Issuance

Statewide long-term debt issued for new money and to refund existing debt totaled over $57.5 billion in 2004. This represents only a one percent decline from the $58.3 billion issued in 2003. Although debt for refunding decreased 38 percent, long-term new money increased 24 percent. Table 2 summarizes statewide long- and short-term debt totals.

"A review of events shaping the future of public debt and investment practices in California".

Bonding Plan Initiated as Inexpensive Method to Finance Transportation Projects

On February 17, 2005, U.S. Senators James Talent and Ron Wyden unveiled a bipartisan plan that would seek to generate $30 billion in funding for transportation construction projects through the issuance of bonds.

The sponsors of the proposal asserted that the plan would generate one million jobs while improving safety and mobility for highway and transit users and enhancing the nation's economic competitiveness.

Senate Bill 428 (S 428), known as the Build America Bonds Act of 2005, would establish a federally chartered non-profit corporation to issue $39 billion in bonds, $30 billion of which would be directed to support transportation infrastructure while the remaining $9 billion would be invested over the 30 year life of bonds to pay for the cost of the bonds.

Participating individuals and corporate bondholders would qualify for federal income tax credits rather than accruing interest on their investment. The proposal would supplement the limited resources available for a surface transportation bill. Bond proceeds would be available chiefly for construction projects, while state and local recipients would be required to match existing fund commitments and update construction materials and technology to ensure efficiency and cost effectiveness.

Few specific guidelines governing funding apportionments of bond proceeds are included in the proposal, however the sponsors indicated that each state would be entitled to receive at least $150 million of bond proceeds under the legislation.

Additional information on S 428 is available at thomas.loc.gov.

Proposed Tax-Exempt Curbs Would Drive Up Debt Costs, Group Says

In a letter to the U.S. Senate Finance Committee, the Public Finance Network (PFN) argued that the elimination of advance refundings and other tax-exempt bond curbs proposed by the Joint Tax Committee (JTC) would substantially drive up borrowing costs for states and localities. Nearly 15 member groups of PFN, a coalition of about 25 state and local government associations that specialize in public finance legislation and regulations, said that "if the proposals contained in the report were to become effective, governments would face significantly higher borrowing costs for infrastructure and capital improvements during a time of revenue shortfalls and strict budgetary constraints."

The network's concerns centered on the JTC's proposal to eliminate advance refundings for governmental and 501(c)(3) bonds, particularly since PFN had sought to allow for two advance refundings instead of the one currently permitted.

The group also addressed six other measures mentioned in the committee's January 2005 report, specifically those that would require states and localities to allocate more of their volume cap to mortgage credit certificates at the expense of single-family mortgage bonds; impose loan and redemption requirements on pooled financing bonds; eliminate the current 15 percent discount property and casualty insurance firms must take on interest received on tax-exempt bonds; repeal the 2 percent de minimis exception for writing off the cost to buy and carry tax-exempt bonds; curb the use of conduit bonds for Indian tribes; and require state and local bond issuers to report to the IRS all tax-exempt interest paid to bond holders.

Treasury and IRS Retroactively Target Sale-in/Lease Out Agreements

The U.S. Treasury Department and Internal Revenue Service are retroactively cracking down on tax-advantaged lease back arrangements, including deals that took place before Congress restricted such arrangements as of March 12, 2004, saying that they constitute abusive tax shelter transactions.

The U.S. Treasury issued guidance late in February 2005 that designates "sale-in/lease-out" or "SILO" arrangements, which often benefit state and local governments, as abusive tax avoidance transactions, saying that SILO arrangements are designed to exploit the tax law by shifting tax benefits from a tax indifferent party that cannot use them to a taxpayer that can.

In 2004, the U.S. Treasury estimated that SILO curbs would add $33.7 billion in revenue over 10 years. In its corporate tax bill passed in October 2004, Congress restricted SILO deals as of March 12, 2004.

Under SILO transactions, a tax-exempt state or local entity sells an asset, such as transportation equipment, bridges, or water and sewer systems to a private domestic or international company in return for cash. The private firm deducts the depreciation costs of the facility from its federal taxes and leases back the equipment to the state or local entity. At the end of the lease term, the infrastructure asset can revert back to the state or local entity for a nominal fee.

Some issuers and state and local government groups have complained that curbing SILO arrangements would limit their alternative methods of capital financing to fund infrastructure, technology, and other large projects.

U.S. House of Representatives Conducts Unfunded Mandates Hearing

In congressional testimony this week, representatives from state and local government organizations said that Congress is trying to curb the growing federal deficit, in part, by passing through to state governments the costs of federally mandated programs. They appealed to Congress for changes in the law.

State and local governments are concerned about unfunded federal mandates and are urging Congress to strengthen a 1996 law that was intended to moderate the practice.

INTEREST RATE SWAPS INFORMATIONAL BROCHURE AVAILABLE MAY 2005

The California Debt and Investment Advisory Commission (CDIAC) will be publishing an informational brochure titled "20 Questions for Municipal Interest Rate Swap Issuers" in May 2005. The brochure will provide answers to important questions issuers should be asking themselves and their financing team when deciding to utilize interest rate swaps as part of their debt program.

The brochure will be available at CDIAC's Variable Rate Financing and Interest Rate Swaps for Municipal Finance Issuers conference scheduled for May 2005 in Monterey, California. Copies will also be available by mail through CDIAC.

2004 DEBT ISSUANCE

Of the almost $58 billion in total long-term debt issuance, state agencies issued about $25.4 billion, an 18 percent increase from the $21.6 billion issued in 2003 (Table 3). The increase was driven, in part, by the issuance of the state economic recovery bonds ($10.8 billion), the proceeds of which were used to address the state budget deficit. State issuance in 2004 also included the annual revenue anticipation notes for $6 billion. Local agencies issued long-term debt totaling $31.7 billion, representing a decrease of 12.3 percent from the $36.2 billion sold last year.

STATE AND LOCAL LONG-TERM DEBT ISSUANCE 2003 and 2004 (Millions ($))

Local Agencies	36,227	31,757	-12%
SLC	521	368	-29%
	58,348	57,586	-1%

The overall use of notes by both state and local agencies totaled almost $13 billion in 2004, down 37 percent from the $20 billion issued in 2003. The State of California and its financing agencies and authorities issued $6.6 billion short-term debt. Local agency short-term debt totaled $6.3 billion.

State Bond Issuance

Bonds, including general obligation bonds and conduit revenue bonds, which represent the largest component of bond issuance, decreased by 11 percent between 2003 and 2004. The percentage of all other types of debt, including certificates of participation (COPs)/leases and notes, issued by the State fell during the same period (Table 4).

Hospitals and "Other" Purposes Leads State Long-Term Debt Issuance

A review of the State's long-term debt issuance indicates that, in dollar terms, financings for hospital and health care projects and the "other" category, which included the recovery bonds, demonstrated the greatest increases between 2003 and 2004 (Table 5). Hospital/health care financings grew from $1.1 billion to $1.7 billion in 2004, an increase of 59 percent, while the "other" category grew from $5.9 billion to 12 billion, an increase of 103 percent. Financings for commercial and industrial development, housing, and redevelopment increased as well. In addition, the change in issuance for capital improvements, though marginal, was positive. Those categories showing a decline in issuance between 2003 and 2004 include debt for interim financing (a decline of 61 percent) and education (a decline of 37 percent).

Of the 163 issues, state financings, 64 percent (105 issues), were sold by negotiated sale and 36 percent (58 issues) were sold by negotiated sale.

Local Agency Health Care Financings Down in 2004

Table 6 highlights the purpose for which local agencies issued debt between 2003 and 2004.

As with the State of California's use of debt financings, the greatest increase in local agency financings occurred in hospital/health care. This use accounted for over $2.7 billion in issuance, more than doubling the $1.1 billion sold in 2003. Financings for hospital/health care include healthcare facilities ($2.3 billion), hospital ($356 million), and other health care purposes ($51 million). The "other" category totaling $2.6 billion, was up 50 percent from the 2003 issuance of $1.7 billion. Much of this was fueled by financings for pension obligation bonds totaling $2.4

billion. Local issuance for interim cash flow financings ($6.8 billion) increased 3 percent. Debt issued for capital improvement projects, commercial and industrial development, education, and redevelopment declined.

In 2004, local agencies competitively bid 15 percent of the 1,771 local transactions completed, and negotiated 85 percent of them.

Taxable Issues and the Use of Enhancements

Taxable issuance totaled $4.5 billion in 2004 or 7 percent of the total statewide volume. This total represents a decrease of 13 percent from the $5 billion of taxable debt issued in 2003. The "other" purposes category accounted for $2.4 billion in taxable issues, 48 percent of the total taxable debt issued by California public agencies.

The movement towards the use of enhancements for municipal bonds continued to rise in 2004. Over 83 percent ($48 billion) of total long-term debt issuance for the year was enhanced. This is up 11 percent from the $43 billion enhanced long-term debt sold in the previous year, which accounted for 74 percent of the total long-term debt issued that year.

Other Highlights from 2004

- In 2004, a hot real-estate market continued to drive the use of Mello-Roos for real estate development. Mello-Roos Community Facilities Districts' issuance levels reached an all-time high of $1.6 billion, with the sale of 165 issues in 2004. This is a nine percent increase from the $1.3 billion sold in 2003. In 2004 Mello-Roos financings were used for the following purposes: capital improvements ($1.2 billion), and education ($351 million).
- The State and its authorities and agencies issued 45 percent of the total dollar volume of short-term and long-term debt for 2004. Local agencies issued 55 percent of the total debt, while student loan corporations issued an amount less than one percent. Student loan corporations sold $369 million in student loans in 2004, a decrease from the $521 million sold in 2003.

- Joint powers authorities issued a total of $9.6 billion in 2004, down 15 percent from the $8.3 billion issued in 2003. Of the total issued in 2004, $7.7 billion was issued under the Marks-Roos Local Bond Pooling Act, down 16 percent from the $6.7 billion sold in 2003.
- The largest local multi-county agency issuer in 2004 was California Statewide Communities Development Authority issuing $3.3 billion. As Table 7 reflects, 10 California counties issued more than $1 billion in debt for 2004. There were only two counties that did not issue debt in 2004, Alpine and Modoc.

IN-BOX

The Unfunded Mandates Reform Act (UMRA) was designed to alert Congress when lawmakers were considering bills that would require states or local governments to spend money to achieve goals set by the federal government.

Until recently, the law was successful in restricting some of the unfunded mandates that states complained about so frequently in the past, said Michael Bird, federal affairs counsel for the National Conference of State Legislatures (NCSL). He stated that the amount of unfunded mandates is starting to increase.

The Bush administration's proposed fiscal year 2006 federal budget includes $30 billion in unfunded mandates, according to the NCSL, on top of $51 billion in mandates and cost shifts enacted in the previous two fiscal years.

The NCSL targeted federal programs like No Child Left Behind, the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act, and the Medicare prescription-drug program, but there are newer mandates such as federal requirements on the issuance of driver's licenses to bolster homeland security.

States fear new mandates because many are still struggling to recover from budget woes of the past few years.

State and county officials want changes in the UMRA to make it more relevant because a strict interpretation of the current law doesn't recognize many of the programs, important to states, as mandated programs. Under the UMRA, the definition of a mandate is much more narrow than state and local leaders interpret it.

Mandates are defined as enforceable duty, a change in large entitlement programs, or a reduction in federal funding for an existing mandate. UMRA is also limited in its scope. It doesn't apply to certain policy areas such as national security and constitutional rights, according to the Congressional Budget Office.

For a complete discussion of UMRA, please see the National Conference of State Legislatures website at www.ncsl.org. DL
